MESSENGERS. Editors:—For weeks have I been waiting to know whether my scribbles were not considered so much a bore as to be thrown under the table, instead of seeing the light under the columns of your daily. In my last I promised, if I wrote again, to give the religious items, and though they are few and very imperfect yet will do the best I can in presenting the religious aspect of things here, and I will not put it off to the close of the sheet as though it was of no consequence, for I consider that if religion takes not a strong hold on the hearts of this people, as society is forming, then the finding of these mines will be a great curse to this country.

Of the thousands who are congregated within a few miles of this place, those of the Methodist persuasion are the most numerous. They have one man only in the mountains, sent by the general conference and devoted to the work of preaching. But there are some fifteen or twenty others here engaged in mining who have been preachers in that denomination, some of whom preach as opportunities present. Bro. Cannon, the regular preacher, has been here about six weeks, and during that time has formed some four or five societies or churches, in two of which they have over two hundred members. They have commenced or soon are to commence building a church in a central situation for three or four gulches and near Central City. Their class meetings are well attended and a good deal of life is manifested among their members.

The Congregationalists come next in point of numbers, and they have united with the new and old school Presbyterians in forming a union church in Mountain City, in Gregory's Gulch, which numbers fifty members, being one week's growth. This church is one formed for the times and circumstances and does not affect our relations with our churches at home. We have a confession of faith such as is in common use, and a covenant suitable to our circumstances, and deacons, &c. Bro. Hamilton, a new school Presbyterian minister, preaches regularly for us. In connection with the school, yesterday we started a Sabbath school of over forty members, mostly adults who are in Bible classes. A Sabbath school has also been started in Nevada Gulch, which is also a union effort, and is very prosperous.

Some four or five neighboring prayer meetings are being held in this vicinity, which are well attended. There are many noble christian men out here who are letting their light shine and are exerting a precious influence for Christ and his cause.

On account of the high price asked for tuition, by those who desire to teach, there have been no day schools started, and only the two Sabbath schools above mentioned. Consequently the hundreds of children around here are growing up in ignorance and vice.

The rush home still continues, and will as long as they continue to come. To a great portion that came out this season this excitement has been a great bummer, and will ruin thousands, pecuniarily. There are yet many here who are working only to get money enough to get home again.

The quartz mill owners cannot brag over the rest, as the prospect now is that at least one half of them will be total failures. Their number already here is very large, and yet the cry is "still they come." With green hands to manufacture machines they know nothing about, and greener ones to run them out here, what else can be expected?

Almost every day I meet with old acquaintances from Chicago, Milwaukee, or some of our other cities. I might about as well go into the streets of Janesville and expect to be unknown as to be around here. Quite a good number of men will this season make large fortunes, and yet, the impression among many is, that this season is only the time to lay the foundations for fortunes, to be obtained by the many in the future. Provisions can now be obtained at reasonable prices, and green sauce, such as lettuce and onions, are being brought up from the ranches in the vicinity of Denver.

The rainy season commenced last year about the middle of July. This season on the 25th of June, since when we have had five fine days of no rain. Otherwise have had rain every day, and sometimes it has poured, and again the ground has been covered with hail. But as the rain usually falls in the afternoon we make calculations accordingly. The sickly season is commencing and one and another is being carried to their long home.

Yours respectfully,
J. S. CHAPIN.

The Free Democrat advertises for an apothecary to give it an ounce of "civet." If "civet" is good for "sore heads," we think the Free Democrat ought to have some.

The Madison Patriot is in trouble about Breckinridge and the Breckinridges. It has four editorials on this prolific subject in one paper. Cause—the number of the followers of Breckinridge is increasing.

Still They Come.—The Nordstern a very influential German democratic paper at La Crosse, renounced its heresy and hoisted the names of Lincoln and Hamlin in its last issue.

From the preparations going on in Illinois we think the people of that state are going to make a general call on old Abe on the 8th of August. It will be the greatest meeting of the campaign.

Mr. Dickinson, a blind man, residing near Rochester, New York, is now in town selling a polish for gold, silver, brass and other wares. He has good recommendations and any assistance our readers may give him will be thankfully received.

A. Hyatt Smith was called to the chair, and T. F. Hunter appointed secretary. On motion of Wm. H. Ebbetts it was Resolved, That the chair appoint a committee of five to report resolutions.

The chair appointed Messrs. Ebbetts, Ely, Sloan, Sleeper and Armstrong.

On motion of John R. Bennett, Esq., it was Resolved, That the chair appoint a committee on badges.

The chair appointed Messrs. Hudson, Hawes and Jackson.

On motion of Geo. B. Ely, Esq., it was Resolved, That the members of the bar will attend the funeral in carriages.

On motion of James Armstrong, Esq., the meeting adjourned until Wednesday morning next at half-past 8 o'clock.

WEDNESDAY, 31st O'CLOCK, A. M.

The meeting re-assembled according to adjournment.

Wm. H. Ebbetts, chairman of the committee on resolutions, submitted the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, it has pleased Him "who doeth all things well" to remove from our midst our life friend and brother, Samuel Henry Potter, Esq.; and whereas, during his residence among us his courteous bearing and demeanor commanded our highest respect and esteem; therefore

Resolved, That in his death society has lost one of its most useful members, the bar one of its brightest ornaments, and ourselves a cherished friend.

Resolved, That while we mourn his death in the very prime of manhood, and at a time when his life gave earnest of the most extended usefulness, we cannot pass over in silence nor without commendation his earnest devotion to his profession, his dignified bearing in the ordinary intercourse of life, and particularly in the more exciting scenes of the forum, and we take great pleasure in thus bearing our testimony to the virtue of the deceased, in that he was in their fullest and most honorable manner, a lawyer and a gentleman.

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathies to the stricken partner of the deceased, who mourns as only the wife can mourn, for a loved and lost companion, praying that He, whose attributes are those of love and kindness, may bind up the broken heart and minister to its sore bereavement.

Resolved, That we, the members of the bar of Rock county, will wear upon the left arm, for the space of thirty days, a badge of mourning as a testimony of our respect for the memory and virtues of the deceased.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolutions, signed by the president and secretary, be transmitted to the widow of the deceased, and also that a copy of the same be published in the Gazette of this city, and in the Sussex Democrat, printed at Newton in the state of New Jersey.

George B. Ely, Esq., addressed the meeting as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT:—I feel that this meeting of the bar is no idle ceremony. I feel that when an occasion like this calls us together we meet not from mere esprit du corps. The bar is a great brotherhood of men of kindred toils and purposes, united by the ties of association and common hopes. And when we meet beneath the shade of the funeral cypress, as on this occasion, it is the individual promptings of our hearts which draw us thither. Such I know to be especially the case on this occasion, and I cannot permit this meeting to pass without a word of condolence at the loss we have all sustained.

Samuel Henry Potter came to Wisconsin in 1837, and entered upon the practice of the law in this city. A young man, surrounded by numerous competitors his course was beset with many difficulties. Without acquaintances, without patronage he had to rely solely upon himself. His sound elementary learning, his matured judgment, his uprightness, his correct deportment, were all he needed to achieve success. He was not long a stranger. Those who came to know him also soon came to appreciate him as a citizen and a lawyer. His acquaintances became his clients as well from motives of interest as from feelings of attachment.

He stepped not out of the high beaten track of professional probity, but he advanced therein with a steady, quiet and yet rapid progress until at the time of his decease he was well and thoroughly established—established, permit me to say, as few young men establish themselves in much longer periods of time—established with clients who were friends—established in the appreciation of the court and the bar—established in the regards of the community.

Sir: He was a Jerseyman. And as a Jerseyman I felt a pride in his presence which recalled the fond associations of our common home. He was educated at her bar, and when I remembered the fact I rejoiced that I also could claim to have been of that bar. In the fullest sense he was a man, and I congratulate myself that he esteemed me a friend. He died a Christian. I can only pray that our last end may be like his.

I would not, Mr. President, use the language of panegyric. You have all known him in his true character these three years past. You must have appreciated his worth. Endowed by nature with those mental qualities which command respect and elicit admiration, he had added learning and refinement to his natural gifts. Courteous in his bearing, generous in his impulses, warm in his friendships, industrious, unassuming and loyal, who during these three years has more endeared himself to us all?

But yesterday he was with us in the forum. To-day he is in that forum where we must all soon appear. But yesterday the affections of a wife, cheered by the prattle of a little child, clung around him in glad and sated fullness. To-day she wears a widow's weeds and sheds those burning tears which gush from none but widow's eyes, and the orphan boy still prattles unconscious of the great loss which has befallen him and his mother.

Remembering Mr. Potter as he was, and remembering our loss, I cannot but cherish the belief of Sir Thomas Brown—"Men are lived over again, the world is now as it was in ages past; there was none then but there hath been some one since that paralleled him; and is as it were his revived self?"

Charles G. Williams addressed the meeting as follows:

"Mr. Chairman: and brethren of the Rock county Bar:

The Dread Messenger, that must come sooner or later to us all, has been in our midst, and we are called upon to bear our brother, Samuel Henry Potter to the tomb. It is occasions like this, that try the human heart, and test our faith in the mysterious ways of Providence; and fit it, that we kiss the rod, and bend before the blow that chastens us.

Three years ago this present season, I think it was, that I was sitting one morning quietly in my office, when a stranger entered the door, and in a direct, manly manner, introduced himself as an attorney from New Jersey, who had come to locate in Janesville, and practice his profession at our bar. That stranger was Mr. Potter, our now deceased brother.

Gentlemen: you can tell, how well he, in his intercourse with us, by his urbane manner, by his spirit of professional courtesy, by his strict integrity and by his classic and gentlemanly demeanor before the court and jury; has shown himself worthy of these first impressions.

I think, that to Samuel Henry Potter, perhaps, more than to any other man, we are, especially the younger members of the bar, indebted, for teaching us by his noble example the salutary lesson that importance is not always the best indicator of sound legal lore, nor becoming modesty, the slowest road to substantial legal eminence.

I need not tell you that by the exercise of his peculiar qualities of mind and manner, he was gradually, but surely gaining a position in his profession that any of us well might envy, and reckoning upon the rewards that this was sure to bring, he had chosen his tasteful home, gathered about him the comforts of domestic life, brought thither the partner of his bosom, and now, as the devoted couple basked in the sunny smiles of their first-born, and while the boy of promise shown brightest in their meridian sky, came the drifting cloud and the descending bolt that has stricken them asunder, and to-day, the weeping widow and the wondering child, follow the husband and the father to the grave.

It is for her and hers, and not for him, that we come to mingle our tears at this time. I fear the dowers of her prairie home will never bloom so brightly again, and that the gentle breezes, that have so sweetly lulled her little one to rest, will sweep a saddened requiem in the future.

But let us hope, that in the midst of all this desolation, the spirit of Him who alone can bind up the broken heart, and heal the wounded soul, will be around and about her, and that she, as well as we, may be consoled by the thought, that one of the grandest achievements of human existence, is to die, with a character unstained."

The committee on badges recommended and procured a piece of black crape for each member of the bar, as a badge of mourning. On motion of Joseph A. Sleeper Esq., it was

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published.

A. HAYTT SMITH, Chairman.

T. F. HUNTER, Secretary.

Excursion of Wide Awakes to Milton.

MESSENGERS. Editors:—I was one of those who participated in the "surprise party" got up by the Wide Awakes of this city for the purpose of making the trip to Milton a few evenings since. The practice seems to have originated at Beloit. We all remember when the Wide Awakes from there took us by surprise and how well the thing went off. It seems to me it would be well to pay Edgerton, Johnson and Emerald Grove a like visit. There is no need of any ceremony; do not wait for an invitation, but go as we did to Milton, without any; and if any of the residents happen to hear of it and surprise us as handsomely with a choice collation, bonfires, salutes, etc., as they did at Milton, all right; but if they do not, let us at least try to show the operations of our organization by a specimen of moon-light drill, and stir up a spirit in others to go and do likewise.

Let me express my personal acknowledgments to our Milton friends for the gratifying reception they gave us, and to add my regret that we had not time to pay a visit to the residence of Mr. Fraser, where, I was told, a rich treat was in waiting for us all.

The Public Schools to be Sustained.

The great mass of our citizens and taxpayers will sincerely rejoice at the action of the common council last evening in reconsidering its decision at a former meeting and providing the means for continuing the public schools of the city. If we cannot afford much praise to those members who changed their votes and thus enabled the original friends of the schools to reverse the disastrous decision of a former meeting, we will withhold any censure, and not scrutinize too closely the motive which has now produced a result so gratifying as to absorb every other feeling. The public sentiment in favor of the schools of the city, and a willingness to be taxed for their support, has been so unmistakably manifested that if a proper economy is observed in their management, the question as to their stability is settled, and the means necessary to their maintenance will be hereafter voted without delay or equivocation.

We regret that the other funds of the city were not all raised to their full charter limit. The additional tax would have been small, and the increased amount raised would have been highly serviceable if not absolutely necessary. If the tax proposed is invalidated by increasing the school fund, it would have incurred no greater hazard by the course of the others. We think the people generally of the city are willing to pay not only current expenses as they become due, but provide something to reduce existing indebtedness.

The Rescue of Booth.

Our Milwaukee exchanges generally look upon the escape of S. M. Booth with satisfaction. The government organ, the Enquirer, does not even express a wish that he may be re-captured, but is savefully down upon Prof. Daniels, and hopes he may find notoriety at a rope's end. That is a pious wish, and shows the spirit that animates the government officials. The News makes fun of the whole affair, and Marshal Lewis included. It takes occasion to give the Breckinridge office holders the following lick:

It is well known to our readers that the officers in charge of the Custom House, Post Office, &c., have their hands full now in organizing a Breckinridge party in this state to divide and distract the democratic party for the benefit of the black republicans, who, it might well be supposed, would reciprocate these kind offices so far as to let Booth alone.

But our U. S. officials, we suspect, have learned by this time that they have been dealing with treacherous allies. Booth, it is said, has left town and gone to parts unknown. This must prove somewhat mortifying to those who have held him in custody at such enormous expense to the government.

The Trenton Gazette compares the political complexion of the Press in New Jersey with that exhibited during the Fremont campaign. It says: "Fifteen journals supported Fremont, six Phillips and fourteen Buchanan. Now, thirty-three advocate the election of Mr. Lincoln, two that of Bell, fifteen that of Mr. Douglas, and five that of Mr. Breckinridge."

Very few right thinking men will condemn the rescuers of Booth. The holding of men in prison for political offences is not relished in this country, and if any other person than Booth had been incarcerated in the custom house at Milwaukee for the same offence, it would have been torn down and the prisoner liberated long before this time.

GROSVENOR'S GULCH, July 16, 1890.

MESSENGERS. EDITORS:—For weeks have I been waiting to know whether my scribbles were not considered so much a bore as to be thrown under the table, instead of seeing the light of day in the columns of your daily. In my last I promised, if I wrote again, to give the religious items, and though they are few and very imperfect yet will do the best I can in presenting the religious aspect of things here, and I will not put it off to the close of the sheet as though it was of no consequence, for I consider that if religion takes not a strong hold on the hearts of this people, as society is forming, then the finding of these mines will be a great curse to this country.

WEDNESDAY, 8th OCTOBER, A. M.

The meeting re-assembled according to adjournment.

Wm. H. Ebbetts, chairman of the committee on resolutions, submitted the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

WIKKEAS, it has pleased Him "who doeth all things well" to remove from our midst our late friend and brother, Samuel Henry Potter, Esq.; and whereas, during his residence among us his courteous bearing and demeanor commanded our highest respect and esteem; therefore

Resolved, That in his death society has lost one of its most useful members, the bar one of its brightest ornaments, and ourselves a cherished friend.

Resolved, That while we mourn his death in the very prime of manhood, and at a time when his life gave earnest of the most extended usefulness, we cannot pass over in silence nor without commendation his earnest devotion to his profession, his dignified bearing in the ordinary intercourse of life, and particularly in the more exciting scenes of the forum, and we take great pleasure in thus bearing our testimony to the virtue of the deceased, in that he was in his fullest and most honorable meaning, a lawyer and a gentleman.

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathies to the stricken partner of the deceased, who mourns as only the wife can mourn, for a loved and loved companion, praying that He, whose attributes are those of love and kindness, may bind up the broken heart and minister to its sore bereavement.

Resolved, That we, the members of the bar of Rock county, will wear upon the left arm, for the space of thirty days, a badge of mourning as a testimony of our respect for the memory and virtues of the deceased.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolutions, signed by the president and secretary, be transmitted to the widow of the deceased, and also that a copy of the same be published in the Gazette of this city, and in the Sussex Democrat, printed at Newton in the state of New Jersey.

(George B. Ely, Esq., addressed the meeting as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT:—I feel that this meeting of the bar is no idle ceremony. I feel that when an occasion like this calls us together we meet not from mere esprit du corps. The bar is a great brotherhood of men of kindred toils and purposes, united by the ties of association and common hopes. And when we meet beneath the shade of the funeral cypress, as on this occasion, it is the individual promptings of our hearts which draw us thither. Such I know to be especially the case on this occasion, and I cannot permit this meeting to pass without a word of condolence at the loss we have all sustained.

Samuel Henry Potter came to Wisconsin in 1837, and entered upon the practice of the law in this city. A young man, surrounded by numerous competitors his course was beset with many difficulties. Without acquaintances, without patronage he had to rely solely upon himself. But his reliance was not misplaced. His sound elementary learning, his matured judgment, his uprightiness, his correct deportment, were all he needed to achieve success. He was not long a stranger. Those who came to know him also soon came to appreciate him as a citizen and a lawyer. His acquaintances became his clients as well from motives of interest as from feelings of attachment. He stepped out of the high beaten track of professional probity, but he advanced therein with a steady, quiet and yet rapid progress until at the time of his decease he was well and thoroughly established—established, permit me to say, as few young men establish themselves in much longer periods of time—established with clients who were friends—established in the appreciation of the court and the bar—established in the regards of the community.

Sir: He was a Jerseyman. And as a Jerseyman I felt a pride in his presence which recalled the fond associations of our common home. He was educated at her bar, and when I remembered the fact I rejoiced that I also could claim to have been of that bar. In the fullest sense he was a man, and I congratulate myself that he esteemed me a friend. He died a Christian. I can only pray that our last end may be like his.

I would not, Mr. President, use the language of panegyric. You have all known him in his true character these three years past. You must have appreciated his worth. Endowed by nature with those mental qualities which command respect and elicit admiration, he had added learning and refinement to his natural gifts. Courteous in his bearing, generous in his impulses, warm in his friendships, industrious, unassuming and loyal, who during these three years has more endeared himself to us all?

But yesterday he was with us in the forum. To-day he is in that forum where we must all soon appear. But yesterday the affections of a wife, cheered by the prattle of a little child, clung around him in glad and sated fullness. To-day she wears a widow's weeds and sheds those burning tears which gush from none but widow's eyes, and the orphan boy still prattles unconscious of the great loss which has befallen him and his mother.

Remembering Mr. Potter as he was, and remembering our loss, I cannot but cherish the belief of Sir Thomas Brown—"Men are lived over again, the world is now as it was in ages past; there was none then but there hath been some one since that paralleled him; and in as it were his revived self."

Charles G. Williams addressed the meeting as follows:

"Mr. Chairman: and brethren of the Rock county bar: The Dread Messenger, that must come sooner or later to us all, has been in our midst, and we are called upon to bear our brother, Samuel Henry Potter to the tomb. It is occasions like this, that try the human heart, and test our faith in the mysterious ways of Providence: and fit it is, that we kiss the rod, and bend before the blow that chastens us.

Three years ago this present season, I think it was, that I was sitting one morning quietly in my office, when a stranger entered the door, and in a direct, manly manner, introduced himself as an attorney from New Jersey, who had come to locate in Janesville, and practice his profession at our bar. That stranger was Mr. Potter, our now deceased brother.

There was something in his conversation which at once bespoke the polish of the scholar and the quiet easy air of the gentleman, and although I might have instinctively regarded him a rival to be dreaded, yet there was that about him which disarmed all jealousy and inspired me with respect from the first.

A. B. McLEAN, Captain.

Bootman's Automatic Attachment.

A musical instrument which has received the above name has been invented by E. D. Bootman, of this city, which, for novelty and usefulness, we think, is worthy of the attention of the public. By attaching it to a piano, melodeon, or organ, any person, although totally unacquainted with music, can play any tune which has been written; and without instruction, such person can set the machine so that it will play church music, marches, waltzes, polkas, or any kind of music that may be desired; not only this, but it will play correctly as many parts at the same time as can be written. When once set for a number of tunes, it will play them through the twelve different keys without any change in the machine; or each piece may be repeated a number of times in the same key.

When we first heard of this machine, we thought it must be too complicated to be of practical utility, but having witnessed the simplicity of its operation, and the ease with which the most uninitiated in music can manage it, we cannot too highly commend the ingenuity of Mr. Bootman, and the perseverance with which he has labored during two years, to bring it to perfection. To that large class who desire to be benefitted by the influences of music in their homes and at their firesides, but whose musical education has been neglected; or to those who have not time or talent to perfect themselves in this pleasing accomplishment, this invention will be a real blessing, as by its aid, they can play any piece of music as correctly as if they had been taught by the best master.

This machine consists of a square frame, neatly constructed, of the height of a piano, in which is hung a cylinder, similar to those used in a parlor organ, 21 inches in diameter; upon the surface of the cylinder, a groove is cut running around it like a screw from end to end. At proper distances another groove crosses it, forming at the crossings of the grooves receptacles for small balls—common shot being used for this purpose. The surface of the cylinder looks as if covered with shoe pegs inserted into it, and between them is scattered about. These shot represent the notes of the tune, and are placed upon the cylinder in the same manner that they are upon the written or printed music in regard to length and pitch. The length of a note is regulated by the number of balls in successive grooves—the more balls or shot the longer the note. As the cylinder revolves these balls pass under levers the ends of which are thus raised, and the keys of the instrument to be played upon are pressed down, producing the sound required. The shot on the top of the cylinder are kept there by their own gravity, and at the bottom and sides by a cloth belt which passes under the cylinder and also serves as a propelling belt.

Any piece of music may be played by properly arranging the balls on the cylinder. To change the tunes, the balls are removed from the cylinder by loosening the cloth or belt that holds them in their places, then by turning the cylinder, they fall out, and are ready to be used again for another tune. These balls are placed in the cylinder by means of a keyboard, similar to that of the piano, so arranged that by pressing down either of the keys, it places one ball in its proper place in the cylinder to represent that note, or key, pressed down.

In playing the piano, a set of hammers are used instead of the lever. The balls in the cylinder raise the hammers, and as they pass by, the hammers fall upon the keys of the piano. The number of tunes that can be set on the cylinder at one time depends upon the size of the cylinder; a 24 inch cylinder will hold twelve pieces of church music or the same amount of any other kind of music.

We have been somewhat particular in describing this instrument, but those who desire to give it a personal examination can do so by calling at Mr. Bootman's rooms in Lippin's block, on Friday and Saturday. He intends to leave for the East next week, and it will not be open for public inspection after Saturday.

THE RAIN AND THE HARVEST.—There was a heavy rain this morning, and it was showery all day. Three-fourths of the wheat has been cut, but from information derived from farmers, we think that not one half is in the stack. We observe that very few stacks can be seen on Rock Prairie, where the crop was later than west of us. We hope there will be fair weather to-morrow.

INSTALLATION SERVICE.—Rev. Geo. C. Heckman will be installed pastor of the Presbyterian church in this city this evening. Services to commence at quarter before eight o'clock. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Joshua Phelps, D. D., of Beloit.

Chief Justice Shaw of Massachusetts has resigned. He is nearly 90 years of age.

Proceedings of the City Council.

Special Meeting.
WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUG. 1.
Present: The Mayor, and Ald. Bates, Dickson, Pease, Pearce, Shelton and Smith.
Ald. Bates moved to reconsider the vote taken at the last meeting adopting the order for levying the city tax. Adopted.
Ald. Dickson then moved to adopt the order as it passed at the last meeting. Not seconded.
Ald. Bates moved to adopt all that order except that part relating to the school fund. Carried.
Ald. Pease then moved to levy $6,500 for the school fund, instead of $2,800 as provided in the order adopted at the last meeting.

Ald. Bates stated that he should vote for the motion of Ald. Pease, and gave as a reason for voting differently at this meeting from what he voted at the last meeting, that two-thirds of the property holders of the city had remonstrated with him against reducing the school fund.

Ald. Dickson moved to raise $3,000 for this fund. This proposition was lost. Ald. Dickson and Pease voting in the affirmative and Ald. Bates, Pease, Shelton and Smith in the negative.

The question was then taken on the motion of Ald. Pease to raise $6,500, and adopted by the following vote:
Ayes—Ald. Bates, Pease, Shelton and Smith.
Noes—Ald. Dickson and Pearce.

Ald. Dickson moved to raise $2,000 for the bridge fund, in addition to the amount already provided for.

The Mayor decided this out of order, as it exceeded the limit of the charter.
So much of the order already adopted as relates to the bridge fund was then reconsidered, and $1,000 ordered levied for that fund.

The council then adjourned.

DANGEROUS ILLNESS OF ELDER STANSBURY.—We are pained to learn of the very dangerous illness of the Rev. D. Stansbury of this city. Mr. Stansbury is presiding Elder of the Janesville district of the Methodist Episcopal church, Wisconsin conference. He was attending his quarterly meeting in Cambridge last Sabbath and while preaching he was suddenly prostrated with paralysis of the left side. We are informed by Rev. Mr. Tilton who visited him yesterday that his physicians think there is little hope of his living beyond a few days, though it is possible for him so far to rally as to be moved home. Mr. Stansbury is generally esteemed by our citizens as a worthy, useful man. His family will, we trust, receive the christian sympathies of the community.

Mr. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte of Baltimore has gone to Europe to advocate his claims as heir to the late Prince Jerome.

Life Insurance.
Those desiring this safe and cheap protection for their families, can secure it in our Wisconsin company. It has already become, in reality, a state institution, having agents and patrons among the best business men in all the principal towns in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted as well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state.

While duty demands that men should insure their lives, it also demands that they should keep their money for investment at home. Confident that our success has been no less than that of the most successful "old" we would cordially invite all our citizens to call at the office, southwest corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, and examine for themselves.

S. S. DAGGETT, President.
A. W. KILLGORE, Secretary.

Meers Play & Harlow, produce dealers, and Capt. Geo. S. Dodge will receive applications for insurance in this home company, and may be happy to give information as to the conditions thereof, to any one desirous of being informed, in Janesville.

Bootman's Automatic Attachment.

A musical instrument which has received the above name has been invented by E. D. Bootman, of this city, which, for novelty and usefulness, we think, is worthy of the attention of the public. By attaching it to a piano, melodeon, or organ, any person, although totally unacquainted with music, can play any tune which has been written; and without instruction, such person can set the machine so that it will play church music, marches, waltzes, polkas, or any kind of music that may be desired; not only this, but it will play correctly as many parts at the same time as can be written. When once set for a number of tunes, it will play them through the twelve different keys without any change in the machine; or each piece may be repeated a number of times in the same key.

When we first heard of this machine, we thought it must be too complicated to be of practical utility, but having witnessed the simplicity of its operation, and the ease with which the most uninitiated in music can manage it, we cannot too highly commend the ingenuity of Mr. Bootman, and the perseverance with which he has labored during two years, to bring it to perfection. To that large class who desire to be benefitted by the influences of music in their homes and at their firesides, but whose musical education has been neglected; or to those who have not time or talent to perfect themselves in this pleasing accomplishment, this invention will be a real blessing, as by its aid, they can play any piece of music as correctly as if they had been taught by the best master.

This machine consists of a square frame, neatly constructed, of the height of a piano, in which is hung a cylinder, similar to those used in a parlor organ, 24 inches in diameter; upon the surface of the cylinder, a groove is cut running around it like a screw from end to end. At proper distances another groove crosses it, forming at the crossings of the grooves receptacles for small balls—common shot being used for this purpose. The surface of the cylinder looks as if covered with shoe pegs inserted into it, and between them shot is scattered about. These shot represent the notes of the tune, and are placed upon the cylinder in the same manner that they are upon the written or printed music in regard to length and pitch. The length of a note is regulated by the number of balls in successive grooves—the more balls or shot the longer the note. As the cylinder revolves these balls pass under levers the ends of which are thus raised, and the keys of the instrument to be played upon are pressed down, producing the sound required. The shot on the top of the cylinder are kept there by their own gravity, and at the bottom and sides by a cloth belt which passes under the cylinder and also serves as a propelling belt.

Any piece of music may be played by properly arranging the balls on the cylinder. To change the tunes, the balls are removed from the cylinder by loosening the cloth or belt that holds them in their places, then by turning the cylinder, they fall out, and are ready to be used again for another tune. These balls are placed in the cylinder by means of a keyboard, similar to that of the piano, so arranged that by pressing down either of the keys, it places one ball in its proper place in the cylinder to represent that note, or key, pressed down.

In playing the piano a set of hammers are used instead of the lever. The balls in the cylinder raise the hammers, and as they pass by, the hammers fall upon the keys of the piano. The number of tunes that can be set on the cylinder at one time depends upon the size of the cylinder; a 24 inch cylinder will hold twelve pieces of church music or the same amount of any other kind of music.

We have been somewhat particular in describing this instrument, but those who desire to give it a personal examination can do so by calling at Mr. Bootman's room in Lappin's block, on Friday and Saturday. He intends to leave for the East next week, and it will not be open for public inspection after Saturday.

THE RAIN AND THE HARVEST.—There was a heavy rain this morning, and it was showery all day. Three-fourths of the wheat has been cut, but from information derived from farmers, we think that not one half is in the stack. We observe that very few stacks can be seen on Rock Prairie, where the crop was later than west of us. We hope there will be fair weather to-morrow.

INSTALLATION SERVICE.—Rev. Geo. C. Heckman will be installed pastor of the Presbyterian church in this city this evening. Services to commence at quarter before eight o'clock. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Joshua Phelps, D. D., of Beloit.

Chief Justice Shaw of Massachusetts has resigned. He is nearly 80 years of age.

Proceedings of the City Council.

Special Meeting.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUG. 1.

Present—The Mayor, and Ald. Bates, Dickson, Pease, Shelton and Smith. Ald. Bates moved to reconsider the vote taken at the last meeting adopting the order for levying the city tax. Adopted.

Ald. Dickson then moved to adopt the order as it passed at the last meeting. Not seconded.

Ald. Bates moved to adopt all that order except that part relating to the school fund. Carried.

Ald. Pease then moved to levy $6,500 for the school fund, instead of $2,800 as provided in the order adopted at the last meeting.

Ald. Bates stated that he should vote for the motion of Ald. Pease, and gave as a reason for voting differently at this meeting from what he voted at the last meeting, that two-thirds of the property holders of the city had remonstrated with him against reducing the school fund.

Ald. Dickson moved to raise $3,000 for this fund. This proposition was lost, Ald. Dickson and Pease voting in the affirmative and Ald. Bates, Pease, Shelton and Smith in the negative.

The question was then taken on the motion of Ald. Pease to raise $6,500, and adopted by the following vote:

Ayes—Ald. Bates, Pease, Shelton and Smith.

Noes—Ald. Dickson and Pease.

Ald. Dickson moved to raise $2,000 for the bridge fund, in addition to the amount already provided for.

The Mayor decided this out of order, as it exceeded the limit of the charter.

So much of the order already adopted as relates to the bridge fund was then reconsidered, and $1,000 ordered levied for that fund.

The council then adjourned.

DANGEROUS ILLNESS OF ELDER STANSBURY.

—We are pained to learn of the very dangerous illness of the Rev. D. Stansbury of this city. Mr. Stansbury is presiding Elder of the Janesville district of the Methodist Episcopal church, Wisconsin conference. He was attending his quarterly meeting in Cambridge last Sabbath and while preaching he was suddenly prostrated with paralysis of the left side. We are informed by Rev. Mr. Tilton who visited him yesterday that his physicians think there is little hope of his living beyond a few days, though it is possible for him so far to rally as to be moved home. Mr. Stansbury is generally esteemed by our citizens as a worthy, useful man. His family will, we trust, receive the christian sympathies of the community.

Mr. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte of Baltimore has gone to Europe to advocate his claims as heir to the late Prince Jerome.

Life Insurance.

Those desiring this rapid and cheapest protection for their families, can secure it in our Wisconsin company. It has already become, in reality, a state institution, having agents and patrons among the state men in all the principal towns in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted as well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state. While duty demands that men should insure their lives, it also demands that they should keep their money for investment at home. Confident that our success has been more than equal to that of the most "unprecedented" life insurance companies, we call on our citizens to call at our office, southeast corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, and examine for themselves.

S. S. DAGGETT, President.

A. W. KELLOGG, Secretary.

Mr. Messrs. Pexley & Harlow, produce dealers, and Capt. Geo. S. Dodge will receive applications for insurance in this home company, and will also be happy to give information as to the condition thereof, to any one desirous of being informed, in Janesville.
